CHATEAU LAGRANGE COLLECTION REMARQUABLE

celebrating 300-year-old oak and the art of ageing

An exquisite collection of six vintages, each aged in a dedicated barrel made from a remarkable 300-year-old oak species:

- 2009 in Morat Oak, nicknamed "the big brother", 350 years old.
- 2011 in Bangor Oak, "the giant of Compiègne", aged 370 years old.
- 2012 in Aberdeen Oak, 360 years old.
- 2013 in Oak from La Futaie des Clos, 353 years old.
- 2014 in Oak from La Futaie des Clos II, 353 years old
- 2015 in Le Vieux Morat Oak - approximately 350 years old.

These majestic oaks are situated in plots sustainably managed by the National Forestry Office, whose state forests were first established by Louis XIV and his Prime Minister Colbert in 1669. In addition to being numbered, each barrel bears the name of the oak in which it aged, an elegant and silent witness of more than 300 years of history.

Presented in a magnificent solid wooden case with finely carved undulations on the cover echoing the topography of the estate's hills.

The wines are bottled in black and gold, set in an oak interior.

The names of the oak used for each vintage are inscribed on wood against each bottle.

Only 250 cases produced.

LAFITE EXCLUSIVE CASE

A Piece of Lafite History: 1995 - 2015

"The vintages chosen to compose this case illustrate the work and wisdom of the men and women of Lafite for generations. Together, they work to perfect the different raw material given by nature each year."

The roundness of 2015, the balance of 2010, the depth of 2009, the opulence of 2003, the energy of 2000, and the structure of 1995 are the best testimony to the greatness and resilience of our terroir which never goes as far as the extreme.

I wish you to make these wines your own: they leave our cellars to continue their story in your hands, your glasses, before being engraved in your memories."

ELEMENTS

“Elements had been four years in the making, from conception to production, with the intention of capturing and sharing the DNA and philosophy of the estate and to transmit the essence of attention to detail in which Carmes wines are made of.”

Guillaume Pouthier, General Manager

The ELEMENTS box is shaped after the iconic cellar building designed by Philippe Starck and Luc Arsène-Henry, which resembles a boat that is floating in a body of water. The design was inspired by how Bordeaux wines were first exported over the water. It also brings together in its shell various bottle sizes and different vintages released from the Château's library collection. The chosen vintages are very special and capture a work of over ten years at Château Les Carmes Haut-Brion, with a vinification in whole bunches since 2012, and by infusion since the 2016 vintage.

Each bottle is repackaged by Château – with gold wax capsule; the label covered with a tracing paper case with “œnothèque” seal guaranteeing provenance. The bottles sit within a plexiglass support with wooden columns replicating those of the cellar itself.

The case is made from a selection of unrolled, veneered, moulded, cut, grooved oak leaves, assembled on solid pieces of oak, cut or turned.

CHÂTEAU LÉOVILLE LAS CASES

Wooden Collector's Case

"If a single wine estate in Bordeaux today were to be promoted to the rank of Premier Cru Classé, Léoville las Cases would be the choice of most claret connoisseurs. The 98 hectare estate is in the appellation of Saint-Julien on the border of Pauillac and abuts some of the best vineyards of its lofty neighbour Château Latour. Perhaps this is why the structured and racy wines of Las Cases so often resemble those of Latour."

James Suckling, Wine Spectator

An original wooden case collection containing 3 magnums from the leading Saint Julien estate, Château Léoville Las Cases.

Each case contains one magnum each of the 1988 vintage (recorked at Château), 1998 vintage and 2008 vintage.

Château d'Yquem

2005 in Nebuchadnezzar (15L)

S$ 31,000

The largest bottles of Yquem before the 2005 vintage were the 6-litre imperials. To celebrate the exceptional 2005, Château d'Yquem decided to bottle its wine in nebuchadnezzar, or the 15-litre format. It was the first vintage to be bottled in such an impressive size. 120 nebuchadnezzars were produced, of which 100 were released and 20 were kept for the château collection.

This rare beauty will take your breath away.

1981 CHÂTEAU MOUTON ROTHSCHILD

A rare magnum bearing autograph and drawings on glass by Arman, artist of the 1981 vintage label

Château Mouton Rothschild is not only known for its great wines but also its legendary artist labels. This first growth estate has created a legacy of art collection showcased through each of its vintage labels. Practically every significant artist of the last 70 years have contributed, including Henry Moore, Chagall, Picasso, Warhol, Jeff Koons and even Prince Charles.

This rare magnum of 1981 Mouton Rothschild is adorned with a personal touch by the label's artist himself.

About the artist:

Born in Nice, the painter and sculptor Arman Fernandez, known as Arman (1928-2005), was the founder with Yves Klein and the art critic Pierre Restany the Nouveaux Réalistes. Their intention was to challenge the dogma of abstraction and to restore the importance of everyday objects which Arman transfigured by massing them, by "freezing" them in transparent plastic cubes or by destroying them, creating work of great originality and power. His famous Colères literally explode the objects he uses: musical instruments with their component parts scattered across the canvas or in space. His coloured composition for the 981 label returns to a favourite theme, the exploded violin.

CHÂTEAU LAFITE

THE ALMANAC

Celebrating 150 years of ownership by the Rothschild family

Lafite's 2018 vintage marks the 150th year of ownership by the Rothschild family.

300 limited-edition sets of THE ALMANAC commemorative case were released to celebrate this milestone. Each case contains a magnum of Lafite 2018 and copy of The Almanac.

New Label

This monumental vintage is given a “new” label. It was a subtle yet meaningful touch whereby a hot air balloon was added to the landscape of the estate, with two women in the foreground taking a moment and admiring the balloon. The Roman numerals “CL” (i.e. 150) were printed the balloon as well as engraved on the bottle.

The hot air balloon symbolized modernity and adventure in 1868; but in 2018, they become a symbol of slowing down and taking things more steadily.

The Almanac

A book titled “The Almanac” was published to celebrate this 150th anniversary. The book covers all 150 vintages of Lafite since 1868 with images, facts, memories and anecdotes pertinent to each. Together they tell an endearing story of an estate and of the large family.

MARIE-JEANNE OF 2016 CHÂTEAU LES CARMES HAUT BRION

• A 2.25L FORMAT - TRULY A COLLECTOR'S ITEM •

Château Les Carmes Haut Brion had chosen to produce 800 Marie-Jeanne (2.25L) of the 2016 vintage to pay tribute to the heritage and history of the estate while bringing back the emblematic Bordeaux format.

This is a symbol of a tradition, lost but not forgotten; it also bears symbolism to the leaps toward modernity that made the estate one of the most important references of the Pessac-Léognan appellation.

The short and flared shape of the Marie-Jeanne was abandoned in the 1950's in favour of slimmer bottles in order to facilitate transport. The traditional format of the Marie-Jeanne with its unique flared curves, however, allow for better preservation by enhancing the ageing capacity of the wine.

This exceptional bottle is housed in a transparent glass box, designed to optimise the conservation of the bottle.
